

MARINA AGRANOV

Marina Agranov is Assistant Professor of Economics in the Division of Humanities and Social Sciences at the California Institute of Technology. She received an MA and a PhD in Economics from New York University in May 2010. Her research interests are in microeconomic theory, political economy and experimental economics. Her research has been published in American Economic Journal: Microeconomics.